

A GUILTY BLACKHANDER, RILED A MANIAC, SENT TO HOSPITAL

OTHER DEFENDANTS RAGE AS TRIAL PROCEEDS

from the jury and that Luigi would not have to face trial, the other men on trial for the murder of Michael Scarponi began to act peculiarly.

Antonio Macetti was heard to babble incoherently. Joseph Simboli's eyes twitched and he clasped and unclasped his hands in a significant manner. Giuseppe Anzardo uttered his cry, tied it again and once again untied it. The other three charged defendants depicted themselves in strange fashion.

Four physicians examined Di Padova. They were Drs. Miner H. A. Evans, Abraham Myerson, John C. Rogers and Charles H. Sullivan.

Following the pronouncement of the physicians that Di Padova was insane the defendant was committed to the Hospital for the Insane at Bridgewater. The law is that no insane man may be tried for a crime. Di Padova's demonstrations in court were such that an extra detail of police was appointed to guard him. He frothed at the mouth, struggled with bailiffs and in other ways showed marked dementia.

A committee of physicians examined him previously and reported to Judge Dubouque that in their opinion the man was shamming. The scrutiny was maintained.

Dr. Rogers today said that in the opinion of the four doctors Di Padova was unable to distinguish between right and wrong. He added that the man was suffering from religious hallucinations and hallucinations of self condemnation.

The testimony introduced at the trial thus far indicates that Di Padova is the man who fired the shot that killed Scarponi. His black-hand blood initiation was amazing. The ceremony is very solemn. Members of the Black Hand are as serious as high priests over an ancient ritual. The man to be initiated bares an arm. Everybody present places his stiletto in a basin. On one stiletto conceals a bit of iron from the point is placed a glove to prevent a deeper stinging into the candidate's flesh. Candidate holds out bare arm. The stiletto is plunged in to it.

Each member present sucks out blood, then spits it on to the other. Scarponi's blood, but spits it on to the other. Scarponi's blood, but spits it on to the other. Scarponi's blood, but spits it on to the other.

That is the ceremony that initiated Luigi Di Padova, the mad man, into the sect, Macetti said. Di Padova is accused as the actual killer of Scarponi.

DISCUSS SCARPONE'S FATE.
It was Macetti who wrote the letter to Scarponi demanding money. Following Scarponi's indifference to demands for money, the witness said they met in a basement to discuss Scarponi's fate for failing to give up $500. One member suggested hitting him in the head with a billiard cue, another slapping his face with a stiletto, but testified the witness Anzardo said: "We might as well kill him. If we don't kill these people we'll never get any money."

That further operations of the Boston "Black Hand" band from Brooklyn, New York, under the leadership of a gangster named Don Carmelo, were interrupted only by the arrests of the Boston crowd, and that money had already been demanded from a man named Ferrera with the threat of a fate similar to that of Scarponi on Unity street. If he did not comply, was part of Macetti's testimony.

ANZARDO GAVE SIGNAL.
That Luigi Di Padova fired the shot that killed Scarponi, but that Joseph Simboli also fired and that Giuseppe Anzardo gave the signal for the shot was the story Macetti said he learned from the principals of the shooting. He said that he was threatened with death if he ever disclosed any of it or told anything about the writing of the "Black Hand" letters.

Macetti said that he wrote the letters while Simboli pointed a revolver at him, and only when he had been forced to write. Simboli, Anzardo, Ferrera and Macetti, the last named a man arrested but never apprehended were present while all the letters were written. While Di Padova was present exact when the first letter was written.

Quits Husband

GLORIA SWANSON.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 10.—Gloria Swanson, film celebrity, and her husband, Herbert Sornbor, have separated. Sornbor today admitted the arrangement, but refused to disclose its cause.

"It is true that we were separated," he said, "but the matter has not been discussed with attorneys, at least by me. I have no intention of bringing action for divorce and I do not believe that Miss Swanson will either. Of course that part of it is up to her."

Sornbor is forty and his wife, twenty-three years of age. They have a daughter a year old. Mr. Sornbor is residing at a hotel here, while Miss Swanson is living at a bungalow in Hollywood.

MINERS VOTE TO NEGOTIATE WAGE SCALE

Cleveland, Aug. 10 (The Associated Press).—The policy committee of the United Mine Workers of America today voted to proceed with the negotiation of a wage scale agreement with the operators of Ohio, Western Pennsylvania, Indiana and Illinois.

Announcing the committee's decision, President John L. Lewis of the miners said: "I confidently predict that when a scale is made here that seventy-five per cent. of all the bituminous tonnage now on strike will sign the scale and return to work within a week."

Settlement of the strike in the anthracite regions, which also have been shut down since April 1 when the miners walked out, would "naturally follow" the resumption of work in the soft coal industry, Mr. Lewis said. This settlement, however, would be reached through negotiations with the miners and the anthracite operators, and no date has yet been set for the resumption of their negotiations, which were broken off in June.

Refusal of the Indiana and Illinois operators to join the negotiations here, Mr. Lewis said, would "make no difference in proceeding toward making an agreement." He asserted that the miners had "definite assurances that instant producers" of these two States would accept any scale decided on by the conference.

STAR STILL EXPLOSION ROCKS WHITING, IND.
Whiting, Ind., Aug. 10.—The city of Whiting was rocked today by an explosion of a star still in the Standard Oil Company plant. Fire followed and led to rumors of enormous loss of life. Company officials said no one was injured. The flames were muffled with live steam applied by the company fire department.

WINS PRAISE FOR AID IN RAIL DISASTER

Worcester, Aug. 10.—Engineer Robert C. McDonald of the 10-62 Berkshire express, which was wrecked here Tuesday afternoon died at the City Hospital this morning. This seals the lips of the one man who could have thrown light upon the real cause of the disaster, which is still believed by local, State and Federal investigators to have been a rock upon the tracks.

It was hoped the engineer would be able to tell if he saw a stone upon the rail when he first spotted his broken car passengers on the train. He was held, several seconds before the jarring and swerving of the cars indicated to them there was serious trouble.

Worcester police investigators today they have the names of several small boys who admit they were throwing stones into the deep cut where the train first left the rails a short time before the accident. The names are withheld and no action will be taken against the boys until after the investigation is complete.

Investigations are being conducted by the Interstate Commerce Commission, Massachusetts Department of Public Safety and the Public Utilities Commission. By the state, an attorney and medical examiner of Worcester County, by the local police and by the railroad. The medical examiner's inquest into the cause of the wreck is being held at the City Hospital, where the body of the man who was fatally killed, was being held for next Tuesday.

Miss Marion Hunt, clerk and telephone operator in the White, Pease & Fitter Company, a four-story house is hailed on all sides today as the heroine of the wreck.

Miss Hunt, who was working near the wreck, called police headquarters at 12 in the morning to report the wreck, and was taken to the hospital by doctors, nurses and police and five minutes later.

First reports placed the blame for the wreck on a faulty air brake connection and, but investigators have discovered that stones were on the track in "Deep Cut," a mile from the wreck.

HUB MAN GETS YEAR IN AUTO KILLING
Worcester, Aug. 10.—Nathan Longworth of Boston was sentenced today to one year in the House of Correction for driving his car recklessly by Judge 28, when he knocked down and fatally injured Mrs. Mary Moreau, and six months additional for driving the same without making himself known. He appeared.

'BIL' HART TO BE DIVORCED

Big Four are Charles Chaplin, Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks and William B. Hart. They are the biggest money-makers and the most popular players in the film.

Chaplin was divorced by Mildred Harris. Fairbanks was divorced by his wife, Miss Pickford, and a divorce from Owen Moore and Mary Hart faces divorce proceedings.

First accounts of the trouble between Bill and Winifred contained the statement that Bill had beaten his wife, that Mrs. Hart would sue Bill's sister for alienation and that Will Hays, pro-convict of the movies, would act as intermediary in preventing another scandal from hitting Hollywood.

Hart had only one answer today when asked for elaboration of his alleged statement that he and his wife had separated.

"He also made public a night letter he sent to Will M. Hays, president of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors Association of America, declaring he was not responsible for statements that Hays had attempted to effect a reconciliation between the Harts."

When asked various questions designed to obtain details, Hart invariably replied: "I have absolutely nothing to say."

Will M. Hays today joined Hart in denying that he acted as intermediary between Mrs. Hart and Mrs. Hart in their matrimonial tangle. They were married on December 7, 1921. She played leading roles opposite Charles Ray, Douglas Fairbanks and DeWolf Hopper.

From friends of both it was learned that a difference in age and dissimilarity in financial affairs are at the bottom of the trouble. Hart, who is much older than his young bride, is said to have preferred the comforts of the fireside of his luxurious home to the social whirl which his wife desired.

A statement issued by Hart follows:

SEPARATED 3 MONTHS.

"As all the newspapers of Los Angeles are aware, I have separated from my wife and up to this moment denied there has been any difficulty between Mrs. Hart and myself."

"A Los Angeles paper publishes an article intimating that I am the author of statements that Mrs. Hart's attorneys and some of my friends are villainously untrue, particularly the one referring to Mrs. Hart, my sister, and to Mr. Will Hays."

"Mrs. Hart and myself separated about three months ago and a few days later property contracts were executed making ample provision for the maintenance of my wife and our unborn child, which is expected in September. Whether she consents to divorce proceedings or not I have no knowledge."

"It is false to say that my sister assumed charge of my home when Mrs. Hart left. My sister went to New York prior to the separation and is still there. She has never regularly lived in my household."

SAU Y. S. NEEDS MOORE IN SERVICE

Washington, Aug. 10.—Senators Colt and Gerry of Rhode Island, joined today in an appeal to President Harding to have John J. Moore, master mechanic at the airport Torpedo Station, retained in government service for another two years despite the fact that he has reached the age for retirement. Both Senators called at the White House to inform the President that Moore has perfected more than 100 inventions which, they said, have saved the government hundreds of thousands of dollars. Unless an extension of service is authorized Moore shortly will be automatically retired.

FRICITION CAUSES BLAZE IN BIG BANK

Fire broke out today in the elevator shaft in the First National Bank building at No. 40 Federal street. Employees in the building soon discovered that only the cables of the elevator were burning. The blaze occurred between the fourth and fifth floors and was quickly put out. It is believed the cause was friction.

Worcester, Aug. 10.—When Ernestine Beroume, 14 years old, told her father, Walter, 40 years old, that their mother had said he must "pack up and get out," Walter went out to a half bedroom of their home at No. 616 Park avenue and attempted suicide by inhaling illuminating gas.

Beroume smelled gas and summoned Gordon F. Don, a neighbor, who broke down the bedroom door and summoned the police ambulance. Walter is at the City Hospital and may recover.

WIFE OF "MARRYING" TO STAY BY HIM FOR LIFE

MADE NO HALF-WAY VOWS

Shadow of Prison Walls Fails to Daunt Courage of Mrs. Donald Stewart

By GRACE DES CHAMPS
"When I promised to love, honor and obey Donald, I meant it. It was no half-way vow. I kept it, even though it has brought me into the shadow of prison walls."

Stallingly unafraid, without irony, but exhibiting a courage born of loving pain for her man for love of whom she is alleged to have posed as a sister and asked him to "marry" another girl, Mrs. Donald Stewart, wife of the "Marrying" Minister, today in Superior Court.

She was charged with conspiracy with her husband to defraud the estate of her father-in-law, Judge Stewart, in default of $40,000 bond was committed to the Charles Street Jail.

"I am glad it's over with," she said. "Being the wife of a hunted man, always in danger of being captured myself, is not a happy experience. I have lived in misery since I married Donald Stewart. I believed in him when I knew that he was doing wrong."

"When I found out that he had a secret, disquieting side, and that he was a drag on me, I tried to get away from him even though it cost me my life."

"I'm glad it's over with this whole thing, and I'm glad I'm free. I am sure he will be happy when he has found his courage and is ready to pay for what he has done."

Her two years as the wife of the advertising Donald Stewart with its unhappy climax, and a further night in the Tumbler, all have left their mark upon her, despite her fourth appearance. Her clear, blue eyes and rosy cheeks must have made her an attractive girl when she met and married Stewart two years ago.

The Flapper Quits as an African Dodger at Revere Beach---Too Much Head Work

You Gotta Let 'Em Hit Once in a While or They'll Get Sore. So She's Again Vamping Old Man Work.

By THE FLAPPER.

"C'mon, boy you can't hit d' side of a barn." Bing! Just missed the old right ear.

"Hey, you goof, hyah Ah am, oah hyah." Biff! Almost got the old left ear.

"Zat all, the best you can do?" Bang! Right on the old bean. Wowa, wotta sock!

Triumphantly the youth paid his dime and walked away from the African Dodger stand at Revere Beach through an admiring crowd.

"Yuh don't wanta dodge too much," cautioned Silly Sambo, the regular dodger. "Is gets 'em sore. We leaves one or two balls hit us now'n again just to keep the crowd around."

"That's very thoughtful of you, Sambo," I said. "But I'm gonna let the law of averages take care of itself. One more when like I jus' got an' I'm out of a job again. I don't see how you stand it day after day."

CY YOUNG GOT SAMBO. "It ain't nothin'," Sambo assured me. "You keeps your hand slippery wif' limament an' them balls jus' skid off. Less'n you get a nut'nough ball frower out theah."

"I reckon the day I got sure-nough biff on my poor old head. I sees this lad comin' up an' I says lak I allus does."

"Ha, ha," I says, "you can't hit nuffin' f'r sour apples, yuh can't frower further an' your nose."

"An' when I wakes up in the 'mergency hospital--when I wakes up, I say, 'Whur was the rest you folks when the roof cays in?'"

"An' they say, 'At wasn't no earthquake, boy, 'at was Cy Young hit you wif' a base ball.'"

Silly Sambo rocked his head with mirth.

"At was on one o'm, I'll say. Lookout, there, you got a chock."

Sambo's warning was just in time. A guy with an inflammable collar was aiming wildly at my head. He didn't have a chance. The dime clattered down on the counter, but not his. He was easy to dodge.

"All I had to do was to jerk my head in the direction he was aiming and the ball'd go the other way. He had a talent for meditation."

"Open the dimes were running into the dollars the apple knocker was suddenly pounced upon."

"So here you are, Pav," declared a buxom dame, easing up on him on rubber heels. "This is the way you got to get me an' ice-cream cone. If this is your idea of a good time I'll hang the settin' room rug out in the yard an' let you leave things at it to your heart's content."

FLAP HAS ENOUGH. And with that the buxom dame grabbed the bum aim by the wing and said after a moment in the voice of a top sergeant:

"Now, march." Rubber collar marched.

"I wouldn't sub again for you for a million berries," I told Sambo, when he took back his job. "Too much head work."

"Oh, it aint so much of a bad job," Sambo said. "I know of worse. I had me a job settin' up ten-pins in the bowlin' alleys down yonda, but I couldn't boy out the way fast 'nough an' I kep' gettin' my ankles slapped wif' them grea' big bowlin' balls. Bime by I say to myself, 'Sambo, I say, you ain' gonna take this risk any more. You got' you nice real ful job.'"

An' so," finished Sambo, "the toby was righted ah. I picks up this job an'."

C'MON, BOYS, HERE I AM. TRY AN' HIT ME. One strike, two strikes, three. I wouldn't advise anyone to plan upon being an African Dodger when they grow up. It's all right, but there isn't any future in it.

EDDY BANGOR TAUGHT WAYS OF BIG CITY

Ed Curley hit Boston something like the month of March. Ed came in like a lion and he's going out like a lamb.

Ed had been pitchin' hay up Bangor way. He got a lot of seed in his ears and 140 "shees" in his sock. The latter, with a mail order suit, button tan shoes and socks and a tie shade of the Nile, Ed brought to Boston.

He was no corner off the train as the North Station to him ordered a taxi driver to haul him somewhere. That was yesterday.

At 12 a. m. this morning Mrs. Martha Howard telephoned her husband, Lieutenant Howard, that a man was asleep on a neighbor's stoop in Riverside street, Waverown. It was Ed.

In Waltham Court today says Ed: "Judge, they clean you quick in Boston."

"Well," says Ed, "now that you're clean, where you goin'?"

"Back to Bangor," says Ed. He chuckled. "They didn't get it out of me. I extracted $2 from his hat band."

"But that won't get you to Bangor," says the court.

"No," says Ed, "but I'll ride that 'n' walk the rest. Taint as fur."

AUTOS KILL 44, 4 FEWER THAN JULY, 1921

Forty-four persons were killed by automobiles in Massachusetts during July, according to a report made public today by Frank A. Goodwin, registrar of motor vehicles. The number is a reduction as compared with the figures for the same month last year, when 48 persons were killed by motor vehicles.

"Although it is very regrettable that any person should have met death on the highways," said Mr. Goodwin, "it is still gratifying to note that the number of serious accidents is steadily growing less, and this despite the great increase in motor registration."

"It is rather significant of the results of the safety campaign which we have waged that although there are about 50,000 more cars registered this year up to July 21 than were registered last year, the number of serious accidents is actually less."

GET $10,000 IN GEMS BELOW DEADLINE

By Associated Press, New York, Aug. 10.—Two bandits, ignoring the traditional deadline established by the police on Lower Manhattan, invaded Maiden Lane in the heart of the jewelry district, shortly after noon today, and robbed $18,000 in gems.

John Traton, a member of the firm, was seen in the front of the store when the bandits entered and asked to see some rings.

As he produced a tray they covered him with pistols, backed him into a shop at the rear, where Joseph Alarico, the other firm member, was working. While one held him at bay, the other bandit looted the place.

The bandits escaped on foot, mingling with the heavy noon crowds in Maiden Lane.

SET GLAND FARM DOGS ON WOMEN IN CHARGE

West Dennis, Aug. 10.—Charges that someone at the gland farm of Dr. Leo S. Hanson set the dogs on to some women passing by, a demand for a probe of the gland farm by the District Attorney, and the determination of the citizens of this town to have the State pass a law prohibiting some gland operations, featured the controversy over the application of Dr. Hanson's establishment a sanitarium here that will specialize in gland operations.

The application of Dr. Hanson and the influential friends of the citizens will be threshed out at a big town meeting to be held tomorrow night.

Mrs. George Chatterly, a neighbor of Dr. Hanson, who has been opposed to his farm, declared that as she and her husband passed by the residence of Dr. Hanson Tuesday night some one on the piazza gave the order:

"If there is anybody out there, set the dogs on them."

The order was issued in a woman's voice.

INCIDENT REPORTED. Mrs. Chatterly declared she hurried by, but later, when some of her relatives passed by, the same incident occurred.

"When Grace Crowell, Eunice Belcher and Mrs. Charles Crowell passed by," declared Mrs. Chatterly, "someone on the piazza cried out: 'Sit em. Sit em.'"

"At once some one in the house rushed out to the automobile in the yard and turned on the lights," declared Mrs. Chatterly, in describing the incident.

DENIAL BY WIFE. When Mrs. Hanson, wife of the doctor, was questioned concerning the incident, she denied that it happened, and added that she was conversant with everything that went on in her home and that no one in her house ever set the dogs on pedestrians.

"Furthermore," declared Mrs. Hanson, "the dogs were all locked up at all times in the night."

"But you can expect people to invent all sorts of stories—especially when our animals have been possessed. We had two rabbits die."

Meanwhile, townfolk and residents have cooperated in the formation of a program to close up the gland farm.

BRANDS FARM MENACE. Mrs. Bernard M. Sheridan, social leader of the Summer colony, and wife of the superintendent of schools at Lawrence, declared that she was unalterably opposed to the gland farm of Dr. Hanson and would fight the establishment of it to the last ditch.

"I shall introduce a resolution in the town meeting Friday night, requesting the selectmen to urge District Attorney Kenny of New Bedford to begin an investigation of the farm and operation at once," she said.

ASSASSINS OF WILSON DIE AS CROWD PRAYS

By International News Service.
London, Aug. 10.—Reginald Dunn and Joseph O'Sullivan, assassins of Field Marshal Sir Henry Hughes Wilson, chief of the British general staff, were hanged in the yard of Wandsworth jail today, forty-one days after the crime.

The jail was under heavy guard. Hundreds of Irish sympathizers spent the night in adjacent streets praying and singing. Squads of insurance men took up their posts before the jail carrying lighted candles. The men died gamely and neither made a statement before the day was ending.

The hanging of a black flag and the posting of a notice on the prison gates were the only indications given to the crowd outside that the death sentences had been carried out.

Each man was awakened by the governor of the prison. They were offered their choice of anything they wanted for breakfast and lunch. If they desired it. Shortly after 7 o'clock a priest arrived.

Just before 1 o'clock a procession consisting of the governor of the prison, a priest, a hangman and the hangman's assistant, entered the jail yard. The assassins were spoken, the men's arms outstretched, the black caps drawn and then the scaffold and the end.

Frequently visited by relatives, both men had been cheerful since their conviction. They maintained their action was justified and that their only regret was that Dunn was not allowed to read the statement prepared at the time of their trial.

Both had first class records in the British army—O'Sullivan being a leg in the fighting—and both had been in State employ since their discharge.

LAWYERS SCORE CONSTITUTION PREJUDICE

San Francisco, Aug. 10.—Establishment of a bureau to further American ideals and to effect a growing tide of anti-Americanism, which was declared to be among great prejudices against the courts and the constitution, was recommended to the American Bar Association today by its committee of American ideals.

"We are convinced that if it could be submitted to a vote," the committee declared, "a large number of our citizens would vote in favor of abolishing the constitution entirely."

The report, which also denounced the proposal to clothe legislative bodies with supreme authority, was presented by Judge Martin Wade of the United States District Court of Iowa.

"Many of our people are convinced that the constitution was intended as an aid to the rich and powerful," the report said, "that it afforded unwarranted immunities to the railroad and other great corporations and is an instrument of oppression to the poor."

"They do not know that no man is so poor or obscure that he cannot, in the hour of threatened injury, turn to the constitution as his protection against the wrongful acts of the rich and socially prominent."

The committee proposed working through social colleges to further American ideals of citizenship and advised the creation of a "youth league" to American citizenship composed of five members representing different parts of the United States and non-partisan in politics and industrial questions to arouse public sentiment in favor of support for the Constitution.

It also urged that every newspaper and newspaper establish a "department of American citizenship" and that a course in American institutions and ideals be made part of the curriculum in all schools and colleges.

BACK BAY GIRL ASPIRES TO PRINCESS CHARMING HONOR

URGED TO ENTER BY FRIENDS

Beatrice Laverty Hopes to Visit Atlantic City as Boston American's Guest

Will a Back Bay girl be selected as the MOST CHARMING young woman in Greater Boston?

Is a girl from that district to win the free trip to Atlantic City with all expenses of self and chaperon paid for one week?

The Boston American offers such an outing to the most fascinating girl in the hub or vicinity. She will attend the wonderful beauty show to be conducted in Atlantic City, September 6, 7 and 8, as the guest of this newspaper.

The first entry for the Back Bay came from Miss Beatrice I. Laverty, a 14-year-old candy salesgirl, who resides with her mother at No. 138 Huntington avenue. She says her friends induced her to become an entrant.

In a letter to the Boston American she writes, "I am enclosing a photograph taken within the last week. Mother and several dear friends have persuaded me to enter the charming girl tournament."

MANY ALREADY ENTERED.

Girls from Roxbury, Brighton, North End and South End are all vying to enter in the tournament. Only those who enter in their own name while friends entered others.

Many young women who are extremely charming are a trifle bashful about entering a tournament or fear their friends would think they had a "swell" head. If you know any girls who are bashful just tell them in pictures.

Your story, dear reader, may be the one that will land the splendid trip to America's greatest watering place, with all expenses paid. In fact, the girl of her mother or any husband she may select. However, that the young woman who is chosen will stay with her chaperon in one of the very best hotels at the beach.

GOING TO REMEMBER.

It will be an outing she will never forget. The best that money can buy will be hers during the week she stays at Atlantic City. She will live like a queen during the time she is there. She will be royally entertained from the time she arrives until she leaves. It will be one round of pleasure from beginning to end.

The program of entertainment includes, dance, receptions, chair races along the famous boardwalk, boat rides and various thrills. "Miss Boston," as the girl chosen to represent this city will be termed. The judges who will select "Miss America" will have the pleasure of participating in a gorgeous rolling chair parade, with an opportunity of winning one of the forty prizes offered on that event.

HUGE CHAIR PARADE.

Some idea of the magnitude of the rolling chair parade may be obtained from facts relative to the one held last year in connection with the Atlantic City parade. The parade was over two miles long and music was supplied by thirty bands and rifle and drum corps. This year's parade will be larger.

If "Miss Boston" desires a real thrill she may obtain one by airplane flights from the Curtiss Air Station situated at Atlantic City. Those flights will cost her nothing, being arranged for her benefit. In addition to making flights herself "Miss Boston" may witness exciting races, both in the air and water.

She will also have the pleasure of riding in the big water procession in a yacht that will be named after her. She will be the honored guest on that particular yacht.

$500 PRIZE OFFERED.

And don't forget, girls, that you may win a $500 prize to be awarded to the most charming girl taking part in the Bathing Women, another feature of the big carnival. You may also secure a $10,000 position in the "showers," as summer silver screen managers will be present in search for young women suitable for that profession.

What an honor it will be for the young woman who is chosen the most charming girl of the group representing seventy-five leading cities of the United States and Canada! Each of these large cities will send one girl. On the last night of the pageant three seventy-five fascinating young women will pass in review before a committee of judges who will determine who is the most charming, charming. The girl who is chosen will be crowned "Miss America." The judges who will select "Miss America" are men of national reputation.

CLIP OUT COUPON.

It would cost hundreds of dollars for a girl to pay for a week's trip with her mother, such as the American will give free. So get busy, girls. Clip the coupon, fill it in and send to this newspaper with your latest photograph. The age limit is fourteen to twenty-five years. Any reader may send the photograph of a friend.

Girls without good photographs may obtain one free by applying in

Held up, brutally beaten and left for dead in the gutter at Warren and Ziegler streets, Roxbury, John P. Gillard of No. 1 Myrtle street was found by the police of the Dudley street police station today.

The injured man managed to gas that he had been robbed by footpads to Patrolmen J. F. Farrell and John J. Tighe, who found him. Far down the street the officers saw two men running. They gave chase and arrested William P. Carlin, twenty-two, of Beacon, N. Y., and Frank J. Marks of Albany street. THIRD CHILD FIRE VICTIM IS DEAD

James Manning, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Manning, of No. 54 Washington street, Charlestown, died in the Haymarket Railroad Station as a result of burns received in the fire which nine hours before did $2,000 damage to the house and killed Joseph and Margaret Manning, aged six and four years old, respectively.

A fourth child, Robert Manning, escaped.

The fire started while the youngsters were playing with matches in the office of their house, James, the eldest, rushed upstairs a human torch. The mother ran out to sound an alarm, but neglected to put the book in the box.

When she returned from the box the house was in flames and she was not aware that two of her children were in the cellar.

Patrolman John Lynch of Roxbury rescued two-year-old Robert. A triple funeral will probably be held tomorrow.

2 Hub Patrolmen Cited for Courage and Alertness

Patrolman William J. Borden of the Back Bay station was commended by Police Commissioner Wilson for his bravery and prompt action in swimming to the rescue of fifteen-year-old Frank Chase of No. 1443 Washington street whose boy's canoe upset in Muddy River last Sunday.

The commissioner also commended the alertness and disavowal of Patrolman Mark J. Leonard of the Dudley street station. Leonard was in the South Station, off duty, when he saw a girl who had left her bicycle in Newton, and for whom the police had been asked to find. He took her to the police station and she was returned to her family.

WAGES ARE HIGH

The shoe and leather industry originated and developed in New England and has proved one of the greatest steps forward, industrially, that has characterized the era of industrial progress. The making of shoes by machinery in large factories as now conducted in all the advanced countries of the world is wholly the result of American initiative and American invention, and the cradle of the art was in Plymouth County, Massachusetts.

Senator Walsh characterized the shoe industry as unexcelled in efficiency and went on to show that the latest census reports indicated that wages in that industry were "among the very highest paid in the country."

LODGE'S ATTITUDE

Senator McChesney, chairman of the finance committee, defended the committee's view, saying that the duty would mean a revenue of $12,000,000 a year to the government and that it would only cost the consumers of the country about eight cents more a pair of shoes. He charged the shoe manufacturers with profiteering and said, "Cheap hides do not mean cheap shoes."

THE FARMER

"The farmer," he added, "would receive an added $1.20 for his shoe." Senator Lodge said he was convinced that as far as the average farmer was concerned if there was to be an increase in the cost of shoes it would be more than offset in the cost of shoes.

SENATOR LODGE DECLARED

that as a protection to the farmer no one had any desire to sacrifice one part of the country to another, adding: "Cattle are not raised alone on the great ranges of the West; they are raised also by farmers who are scattered from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Shoes and shoes are worn by everybody."

THAT, HOWEVER, THE QUESTION INVOLVED

here is as extensive as the business of the nation. I think I may say that it is obvious and accepted by everybody that if you leave the most highly finished article in the industry free of duty and impose a duty on the basic material used in that industry, the duty will be taxed out of existence."

HE DECLARED THAT THE AVERAGE FARMER

would get nothing more for his hide with a duty, and judged that the average farmer with only two or three cows in the aggregate would probably have more cattle than all the great cattle raisers in the country. The packers, alone, would receive the benefit.

URGEN FREE LIST

"If I thought that a duty on hides would be of any material benefit to the farmer I should be reluctant to refuse to impose a duty, but hides are a by-product. Cattle are not raised for hides, and it is difficult for me to see where the farmer can get any benefit from a duty on hides."

IT SEEMS TO ME THAT AN INDUSTRY

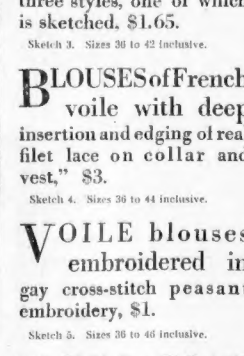

which includes not only the boot and shoe worker, but the leather worker in leather and the tanner, and which thinks it more important to their industry than protection that they should have their basic material free, is entitled to have it free.

NEW HAVEN FIRM TO TEST RATIONING

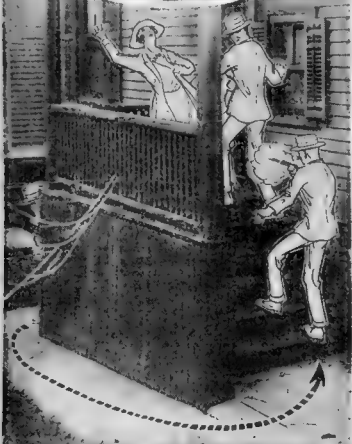

New Haven, Ct., Aug. 10.—"The plan to test the authority of the Federal Coal Commission to regulate the rationing of coal in such a way as to preclude them from fulfilling their contracts made for the delivery of coal, the firm of the Federal and Stinson of this city, dealers in coal of New York and New Haven, have engaged counsel to take action in the courts."

The government will be restrained from enforcing its coal rationing project, the president of the firm, Mr. J. H. Spencer, Federal Fuel Administrator, he said. The question to be raised is whether an emergency actually exists which would permit the government to take over the distribution of fuel.

Mr. Spencer said his firm has contracts for delivery of coal to legal consumers who have threatened legal

By THOMAS L. CUMMISKEY.

New York, Aug. 10.—The United States Davis Cup team, which will defend the famous trophy at Forest Hills, L. I., September 1 to 4, from the challenging nation of Australia, will consist of William T. Tilden, 24, of Philadelphia; William M. Johnston, of San Francisco; Vincent Richards, of Yonkers, N. Y., and R. Norris Williams, 34, of Boston, were chosen.

Tilden and Johnston will again represent the country in the single matches, but there is doubt about the make-up of the doubles team. Williams because of seniority as a cup player, will be captain of the team.

The selection of "Vince" Richards, also nineteen, came as something of a surprise. He was picked in place of Watson M. Washburn, who played with Williams as the doubles team last year, after

BRVES CHERRY RIPE FOR CELLAR CHAMPIONSHIP SERIES

WATCH OUT FOR THE PHILLIES NEXT

By NICK FLATLEY.
The Braves, who are likely to take their crutches and scramble out of the cellar any of these days, considered their home stand at the Boston Coliseum this afternoon. Playing the Cards, they had a pretty good chance to win.

The Western league leaders have had more trouble with the Athletics this campaign than with any other team, not excepting the more or less powerful world's champion St. Louis Browns. The Braves have taken the Athletics fifteen times and have won ten contests. If they could have done that with a few other clubs, it would be well along the Potomac.

The defense of the embattled trenches of the Braves has not been so good. The Grant Garden have been hooked for the well-known Patersonian perils on two occasions, while they have played the target on the foe on but five starting afternoons.

After today's misap that trickles to Philadelphia, ownership of the cellar. That should be a heavy struggle. That should be a heavy struggle. That should be a heavy struggle.

TAD'S TIDBITS

Famous Training Quarters Torn Down
Billy Shannon's training quarters in San Rafael, across the bay from San Francisco, was torn down last week to make room for new buildings.

Now that the boxing game in California is practically dead, Shannon had little use for his "gym" and quarters.

For twenty years or more Shannon's was an ideal place for a boxer to get into trim for a fight.

Many old-time stars trained there, including Kid McFadden, Bat Nelson, Joe Walcott, Joe Gans, Young Corbett, George Culp, Abe Attell, "Philadelphia Jack" O'Brien, Jack Moffatt, Harlem Tommy Murphy, Al Kaufmann, Jack Root, Gusdo Smith, Owen Moran, Bill Squires and George Gardner.

A notable feature of these quarters in the days of world famous fight was the cooking of Mrs. Shannon. Every fighter wanted to train at Shannon's because of the excellent table set.

When the better class of boxing became a thing of the past in San Francisco, Billy Shannon was trained the quarters largely as a matter of sentiment and, for a while, the bar that was part of the place helped to defray expenses.

But then along came prohibition; scapaperilla and other soft drinks when passed over a bar did not net the same profits that did the stronger drinks, and finally, after a struggle against the inevitable the Shannon called in the wreckers.

Answers to Your Radio Questions

G. T. O., Medford.—The diagram you enclose shows that the negative of the B battery is on the plate. This is the correct connection, and will make your set inoperative. Remember that both plate and grid must be connected to the same letter, and you will never make this mistake again.

R. J. M., South Boston.—An all-plate condenser is unnecessary for your needs. Remember that the condenser is to be connected to the antenna.

The secondary of a loose-coupler is used simply to allow the energy to be tuned wide enough not to happen to fall between the taps. A tight condenser will do this better than a loose one. The secondary of the large condensers are used where there is no need of retuning, as in the case of a loop antenna.

J. C. Newman.—The letters "R. P. D." stand for "read point double throw," and refer to a switch which can be connected in either one of two leads.

R. M. G., Jr., Malden.—The hook-up shown in the diagram is correct, and shows that there is a ground connection. The antenna, a phone condenser and an oscillator are all connected to one other. To effect is the same as if you put in a condenser to double the power of the antenna. This is very possibly one reason why you are not getting any more than the extra condenser. You should use a 1000-ohm resistor in series with the condenser in the antenna circuit.

Leave out the loading coil, and connect the antenna in series around the secondary of the loose-coupler. This will give you the effect of the secondary at regular intervals. The antenna should be connected to the taps should be at the end away from the sides you began to wind. You probably have a better chance than Medford or Boston with
